Wm L Garrison.

Beloved Friend

177

On opening mine of yesterday there had found the dollar missing—I did go to the village and vote for free suffrage, and mailed half a dozen letters and forgot the dollar till too late— So now I will send ~~two~~ dollars; and if you choose to apply it or part of it to the Liberator I care do without Beriah Green's book, but I should like to see the "Mistakes of Christendom", and I would not miss of some extra papers of the 5th containing my rhymical sketch of Character, for which I do not claim the title of a poem; my aim ^{in all} being to express the truth and its accord (=ance)

with principle, (where any are involved), in which I believe My anxiety ^{to} keep posted in regard to what is given the publick on the ethics and theology of Christendom of a radical reformatory character is ~~increased~~ ^{strengthened} by the purpose, resting with me for years of writing "Theology simplified and adapted to all christians" and ~~the~~ ^{the} late breaking up of family cares presents the prospect as drawing near; and in the age of three score and seven years ~~xxxxxx~~ ^{presses} me with, "what thou doest do quickly"; I have recently thought if I knew Catherine Beecher's next book on "Common sense" would be like the two that have appeared, I could present the above named, or a little essay by itself in the form of a supplement to her - She seems pretty thoroughly enlightened in regard to the fallacy of the struggle for a reconciliation between the Augustine's dogma of depravity and the justice of God. But on a few points, the assist-of a Calvinistic ^{view} (and Arminianism is little better) ~~is~~, still bedimms her vision - Hence I asked her address - I would like much to see her -

Respectfully

Samuel Green

If thou should think proper, I should like thee to make any remarks in relation to my "tracting" and thou ^{mayest} call my name
